Action: FWG considers and adopts the provisional agenda as is, or with revisions agreed upon by consensus.²

3. Progress made on FWG 8 decisions related to the GGA and GST

During its 8th meeting, the FWG decided to further shape the global approach to climate action through their participation and input to the Global Goal on Adaptation and the Global Stocktake process.

3.1. Global Goal on Adaptation

During its third session, the Conference of the Parties (COP), serving as the meeting of the Parties to the Paris Agreement, decided to establish and launch a two-year Glasgow–Sharm el-Sheikh work programme on the global goal on adaptation (GGA). The second three-year workplan of the LCIPP calls for collaboration on scoping document(s) for the contribution of Indigenous Peoples' and local communities' perspectives to considerations on the global goal on adaptation.

The 5th workshop under the GGA work programme took place in March 2023 and focused on "changes in mindsets and world views towards transformation in adaptation, with the inclusion of Indigenous Peoples' wisdom, values and knowledge and consideration of cross-cutting issues."³ Several Indigenous knowledge holders participated in the workshop, including FWG members in their individual expert capacity.

Indigenous knowledge holders highlighted Indigenous approach to nature, treating it not merely as a resource but as kin and an integral part of one's identity. They underscored that nurturing a healthy and regenerative environment is the most transformative climate adaptation action. Advocating for a paradigm shift from exploitation to symbiosis, they highlighted the importance of interconnectedness, referencing Chief Seattle's quote on the web of life.

"Humankind has not woven the web of life. We are but one thread within it. Whatever we do to the web, we do to ourselves. All things are bound together. All things connect."

- Chief Seattle, Suquamish and Duwamish leader

Party representatives also shared practices and measures that recognize the importance of the knowledge and values of indigenous peoples and local communities. They provided examples such as Ecuador's constitutional recognition of nature's rights, the Maldives' restoration of coastal zones through natural coastal nourishment reinforcement, and the implementation of indigenous fire management practices in Australia.

3.2. Global Stocktake Process

The Conference of the Parties serving as the meeting of the Parties to the Paris Agreement (CMA) established a technical dialogue as part of the first global stocktake of collective progress towards achieving its purpose and long-term goals of the Paris Agreement. CMA invited relevant constituted bodies to prepare information in their areas of expertise for the technical assessment,⁴ with the assistance of the secretariat. FWG submitted a synthesis report as its input to taking stock of collective progress towards achieving the purpose of the Paris Agreement and its long-term goals.

² Per decision 2/CP.24, paragraph 15

³ See the recordings from GGA 5: <https://www.youtube.com/playlist?list=PLBcZ22cUY9RIUjVlegrhcMDYHs227TxBc>

⁴ Decision 19/CMA.1 paragraph 24

At its 8th meeting, the FWG decided to update its contribution to the technical dialogues of the global stocktake. It encouraged its members, acting as regional representatives, to gather information for updating the FWG synthesis report. The updated synthesis report can be found in the FWG 9 background document FWG/2023/9/4.

Actions:

- FWG will discuss ways to advance and enhance the contributions and participation of local communities and Indigenous Peoples in relation to Glasgow-Sharm el-Sheikh work programme on the global goal on adaptation,⁵ and the global stocktake process.⁶
- In small group discussions, the FWG will invite contributors to actively participate and respond to the following questions:
 - Global Goal on Adaptation
 - How can the formulation and pursuit of the GGA engage the knowledge and values of local communities and Indigenous Peoples in a manner that respects and promotes rights-based approach?
 - Could you share examples and views from your region that can contribute to the GGA?
 - Global Stocktake Process
 - How can the Global Stocktake process engage the knowledge and values of local communities and Indigenous Peoples in a manner that respects and promotes rights-based approach?
 - Could you share examples of climate impacts in your region? Could you also share actions, views, and knowledge systems related to addressing and responding to climate mitigation, adaptation, and loss and damage associated with climate impacts?

4. FWG retreat 2023

During its 8th meeting, the FWG decided to hold an in-person retreat in early 2023 to discuss ways to enhance planning, accountability, and implementation of the second three-year workplan of the LCIPP.

From 24 to 26 January 2023, the FWG members convened for an in-person retreat in Bonn. The meeting focused on various topics, including in-depth discussions on their ways of working, vision, and plans for all the activities under the current workplan.

4.2. FWG vision

As part of the outcomes from this retreat, the group put forward vision elements. These elements will help guide the group's collective effort to enhance the contributions and participation of indigenous peoples and local communities in the UNFCCC process. For more detailed information about the vision elements, please refer to the FWG 9 background document FWG/2023/9/3.

4.3. FWG working modalities

5.1. Updates on the plans for all regional gatherings in 2023

The second three-year workplan of the LCIPP calls for at least two regional/biregional gatherings in 2022 and 2023, organized for and in a different UN Indigenous sociocultural region or UN region, with the direct involvement of elders, practitioners, knowledge holders, women and youth from each region in the planning and implementation. The first LCIPP biregional gathering took place in Chad in 2022. Preparatory works are underway for three regional/biregional gatherings to take place in 2023.

5.2. Regional inputs to the updated FWG synthesis report as input to the GST process

At its 8th meeting, the FWG decided to update its contribution to the GST process. The Activity Co-leads have developed outreach communications in English, Spanish, and Russian languages to support members in their roles as regional representatives, thereby enhancing regional input for the update of the synthesis report. The full outreach communication can be found in the FWG 9 background document FWG/2023/9/6.

The second workshop will take place on 7 June 2023, from 13:00 to 15:00 CEST. This workshop enhances the capacity of Parties, constituted bodies, and other stakeholders to respectfully engage with local communities and Indigenous Peoples. This workshop will focus on strengthening human-rights-based engagement of Indigenous Peoples and engagement of local communities in national climate policymaking, as well as their participation in relevant bodies and processes under and outside the Convention related to assessing and responding to climate change. Further details about the FWG meeting and LCIPP workshops will be accessible on the LCIPP web portal.⁸

6.2. LCIPP mandated events at COP 28

At the FWG retreat in January 2023, the members reached consensus on the importance of early theme selection for mandated events. This decision aims to facilitate the timely nomination of knowledge holders. As part of this agenda item, the members will discuss and collectively determine the themes and the associated timeline for nominating knowledge holders for relevant mandated LCIPP events, which are scheduled to take place in conjunction with COP 28.

6.2.1. Activity 1: Annual gathering of knowledge holders

LCIPP second three-year workplan calls for annual gathering of knowledge holders in conjunction with the session of the COP, to take place in round-table discussion format, divided into two parts: one for Indigenous Peoples that includes Indigenous youth and persons of different genders, and a focus on intergenerational knowledge-sharing; and one that includes Indigenous Peoples, local communities, constituted bodies under the Convention and scientific bodies focused on integrating diverse knowledge systems.

The LCIPP annual gatherings aim to expand and enhance the inclusion of traditional knowledge, knowledge of Indigenous Peoples, and local knowledge systems in addressing and responding to climate change, consistently with rights-based international safeguards and Indigenous Peoples' cultural protocols.
