

LCIPP Annual Youth Round Table

Advancing the engagement of Indigenous youth and youth from local communities in climate policies and actions

Draft Concept Note

Version 3 October 2024

Background

Activity 8 of the 2nd three-year work plan of the Local Communities and Indigenous Peoples Platform (LCIPP) focuses on the role of Indigenous youth and youth from local communities, and specific ways to advance the engagement of youth in designing and implementing climate policies and actions at all levels, including the UNFCCC process, such as at COP 29.

The deliverables of Activity 8 include:

- Knowledge-gathering devoted to intergenerational knowledge-sharing, intergenerational equity, strengthening relevant practices on the ground, and enhancing youth engagement in climate policy development and implementation at all levels with a view to developing recommendations on how to enhance the leadership of Indigenous youth and youth from local communities
- Recommendations from Indigenous youth participants and youth participants from local communities, ensuring gender and sociocultural balance, on the promotion of their participation in the activities of the FWG, as well as opportunities to enhance knowledge-sharing, capacity-building, and policy for integration under the UNFCCC process

In preparation for COP29, FWG co-leads for activity 8 conducted informal consultations with Indigenous youth and youth from local communities. These informal consultations (Session 1 and Session 2) gathered inputs from participants from different regions on effective ways of designing the annual youth round table at COP29. Youth from all UN Indigenous sociocultural regions provided valuable insights on thematic topics for discussions during the roundtable, format of the roundtable and proposed strategies for the FWG to disseminate key messages from the round table. These inputs have been incorporated to inform the overall structure and focus of the annual youth round table at COP 29.

Approach

The LCIPP annual youth round table features two parts:

Part I: Exchange amongst Indigenous youth and youth from local communities

Cross-regional knowledge-sharing between Indigenous youth and youth from local communities

The first part of the gathering will serve as a coordination meeting for Indigenous youth and youth from local communities to discuss enhancement of meaningful participation of Indigenous youth and youth from local communities in climate policies and action.

Part II: Dialogue with Parties and other stakeholders

Indigenous youth and youth from local communities with Party Representatives and other stakeholders

In the second part of the meeting, Indigenous youth and youth from local communities will present recommendations on their meaningful participation in climate policies and action. Parties, international organizations, constituted bodies under the Convention are invited to contribute to this discussion.

Dissemination of outcomes and key messages

The key messages and recommendations from Part I of the discussions will be presented to Parties, constituted body members and other stakeholders during the Part II of the roundtable. An event report, containing these key messages and recommendations will also be published after COP 29

Additionally, the FWG is considering several other channels for dissemination of these messages, based on suggestions from informal youth consultations, mentioned above. These include:

1. Inputs through participation in events at COP 29: Actively engaging and participating in relevant events during COP 29, including youth-led events, presidency events, amongst others to present key messages and recommendations
2. Digital and social media campaigns: Utilizing platforms social media channels to share communication materials with a broader range of audience
3. Collaborating with youth organizations: Engaging with youth organizations and youth groups across the UN Indigenous sociocultural regions to amplify the key messages and extend the outreach

Small Group Discussions

To emphasize actionable solutions, Indigenous youth and youth from local communities are invited to engage in a dynamic discussion on the following topics in regional breakout sessions. These discussions, and their recommendations, will be summarized, contributing to climate policies and actions at the national and international levels.

Discussion questions: What insights and recommendations do you have for the following questions?

1. Drawing upon the spiritual knowledge, practices and traditional knowledge of your Peoples and communities, could you share examples or stories of how Indigenous youth and youth from local communities are addressing climate change impacts? Are there examples of solutions related to health and mental well-being that you'd like to highlight?
2. Could you share some youth led solutions from your region or communities? Are there any examples in the areas of agriculture, food security, and sustainable development that you could share?
3. What should the FWG / UNFCCC do to uplift the leadership of Indigenous youth and youth from local communities in climate policy development and implementation? Is there specific guidance needed at the national level? If so, what ?

Indigenous youth from each region contributes to and moderates the regional breakout group discussions:
